Built For Mobile Service

Whether you need a roadside tire service truck for basic repairs and replacements or a mobile tire service truck capable of going off-road and handling massive tires for construction, mining and agricultural equipment, Glowa notes that Stellar can make the perfect model for you.

"We use the F550 Ford truck on a chassis, and Stellar has provided the box, custom designed to our needs as a tire service company. They have all the custom compartments that we need on the truck to house the tools the guys use onsite, and it's just been a very reliable product."

Mobile tire trucks from Stellar are like having a tire shop on wheels. Along with plenty of room to transport tires, there's storage for tools. Many models are equipped with a service crane or a tire manipulator. "The product that Stellar provides us with is easily accessible," adds Glowa. "It's always very efficient and allows our guys to get into a site and get out quickly, which is the best thing for our customers."

Safety Is Always The Top Priority

Tire technicians have a dangerous job, and Glowa appreciates Stellar's commitment to safety through quality construction and hosting tire service training courses. "Safety is a huge concern of our industry and especially for us and our employees. The work that our tire guys do is very dangerous, so knowing that Stellar is involved with Tire Industry Association training is valuable to us because we talk the same language. We have employees that are certified and well-equipped to learn and understand the tire repair business."

“Our company is 12 years old, and we've been using Stellar products since the beginning. We continue to use Stellar because they're so reliable. Everything works on their product.”
