 To help better understand the restaurant industry and restaurant employees, Toast conducted a blind survey of 624 restaurant employees in the United States, from both Toast and non-Toast customers from January 31, 2025 to February 19, 2025. Respondents include a mix of both front of house, back of house, and managerial positions. Respondents were not made aware that Toast was fielding the study. Panel providers granted incentives to restaurant respondents for participation. Using a standard margin of error calculation, at a confidence interval of 95%, the margin of error on average is +/- 4%.
