Ellie Haskins

Ellie Haskins, a Community & Experience Facilitator for Blanchard®, is a motivating educator, communicator, and coach whose mission is to inspire people to love their lives. She cares deeply about the success of her clients and seeks to equip and empower them with effective, research-backed skills that enable them to achieve personal and professional goals. She is passionate about improving company culture and believes in the life-changing power of SLII® in carrying out that vision.

Ellie creates a supportive and enriching learning environment by fostering meaningful connections with her clients and leveraging active-learning strategies that engage individuals in the learning process and promote a growth mindset. She has invested years researching factors needed to create a thriving workplace and incorporates the findings into every aspect of her training. Her commitment helps clients develop deep connections with content that ignites both practical action and lasting positive change. Ellie's client reviews applaud her inspiring and engaging training approach.

She joined Blanchard® because of their proven success in enhancing company culture and their dedication to research, results, and people. Ellie finds purpose and joy in teaching clients cutting-edge methods for creating a thriving culture in the ever-evolving workplace. She strives to maximize clients' time by teaching the elements and skills needed to win the competitive advantage that SLII® offers.

Ellie's expertise is in goal setting, interpersonal communication coaching, and leadership training. Prior to joining Blanchard®, she served as a public speaking instructor at Texas Christian University, where she earned her Bachelor's and Master's degrees in Communication Studies with undergraduate minors in Business and Spanish.

She lives in Santa Barbara, California, and in her spare time enjoys being at the beach, playing sports, nonprofit volunteering, and mentoring young women.
