Allison Dexter

Allison Dexter, a Digital Learning Facilitator for Blanchard®, is an enthusiastic facilitator and coach. To her, training is not just for professional purposes, but is also a personal experience and opportunity to practice self-awareness, deeply connect with others, and lean into areas of growth. She enjoys combining personal stories, intriguing questions, and real-world scenarios to partner with clients in their learning journey.

Since 2016, Allison has been facilitating programs, using her expertise in leadership, personal growth, strategic alignment, and cultural awareness. In addition to her work with Blanchard®, she serves as an organizational development consultant at Lake Michigan Credit Union, where she consults one-on-one with managers to ensure their people and processes are reaching their full potential.

Her innate curiosity compels Allison to continually seek learning and growth opportunities. She has a Bachelor's degree in Public and Nonprofit Administration with a focus on Spanish and Local Community Development from Grand Valley State University, and is currently pursuing a Master's degree in Management at Davenport University. She is certified in 7 Habits of Highly Effective People, Unconscious Bias, and Presentation DiSC®. She comfortably facilitates in English and speaks Spanish at the conversational level.

Allison lives in Grand Rapids, Michigan, where she enjoys paddle boarding, hiking, and spending time at the beach during the warm months, and cross-country skiing in the chilly months. Any chance she has, she loves to hop on a plane and experience new cities and cultures; in her spare time, she volunteers with Street Kids Direct based in Guatemala City, Guatemala.
