TRANSAMERICA STRUCTURED INDEX ADVANTAGE ANNUITY RENEWAL RATES FOR 2023 ALLOCATION ACCOUNT EFFECTIVE DATES

The Transamerica Structured Index Advantage® Annuity is a registered index-linked annuity that offers the ability to customize your annuity to fit your individual needs. This provides you with the opportunity to grow and protect the retirement you've worked so hard to achieve.

RENEWAL RATE INFORMATION

These rates are for existing policies that are reaching the end of the Crediting Period for an Allocation Account within the policy. Renewal rates are based on the Allocation Account effective date, which is the starting date of the first Crediting Period and the first date your money can be allocated to an Allocation Account. Renewal rates can be different for policies issued in different years, so be sure you're referencing the correct rates based on your Allocation Account effective date. Rates may be higher or lower upon each renewal. Declared rates will not be lower than the minimum guarantees. See prospectus.

Downside Protection rates (such as Buffers and Floors) do not change after they are established, which is usually at issue, and they can be different between Allocation Account options. For Allocation Account options added after issue, the Downside Protection rates are established when the Allocation Account option is added to the policy.

During the Renewal Period, which is 21 days prior to the end of the Crediting Period, you will be sent notice of any expiring Allocation Account options along with the options available to you. In most instances, you will have the option to transfer the Policy Value in the expiring Allocation Account option to a different Allocation Account option, or you can choose to do nothing, and the Allocation Account option will renew in the same Allocation Account for a new Crediting Period. If the Allocation Account is no longer available, the Policy Value in the expiring Allocation Account will be transferred to the Fixed Account Option.

PERFORMANCE LOCK

If a Performance Lock was exercised, the renewal rate will be based on the year of the Crediting Period that the Performance Lock occurred. For example, if you have an Allocation Account with a 6-year Crediting Period, and a Performance Lock is exercised in the third year of the Crediting Period, the renewal rate would be based on the third anniversary renewal rate.

The Renewal Period begins 21 days prior to the Allocation Anniversary after exercising and, as with the other Allocation Options, you will receive notice with the options available to you. If you choose to do nothing, the value in the Performance Lock Account will be automatically reinvested in the same Index Account Option that was Performance Locked. If the Index Account Option is no longer available, the value will be transferred to the Fixed Account Option. Growth Opportunity Rates may be higher or lower upon each renewal. Declared rates will not be lower than the minimum guarantees. See prospectus.
