

Contractors Pollution Liability Program (CPL)

Overview

Whether an environmental contractor causes a pollution release during an excavation or a utility contractor hits an underground pipeline or storage tank, improper paving construction project – contractors can be held liable in the event of a pollution accident. Contractors Pollution Liability (CPL) helps protect an insured contractor against pollution liabilities resulting from the performance of construction activities, even for work completed by subcontractors. With CPL environmental coverage, we can help you provide your clients with business solutions to minimize loss for liabilities when sudden or gradual pollution conditions become a job related issue. Such potential losses can be severe and are typically left uncovered by standard general liability programs. CPL claims made policy form is designed to address the specific pollution liability risks contractors face.

Appetite

- General Contractors
- Street and Road Contractors
- Maintenance, Marine and Mechanical Contractors
- Electrical Contractors
- Wrecking and Demolition Contractors
- Trade- Plumbing, HVAC and Industrial Contractors
- Environmental Remediation Contractors
- Response Action/Emergency Spill Response Contractors
- Water, Sewer, Pipeline and Communications Contractors
- Excavation Contractors
- Concrete Contractors
- Water Well Drilling Contractors
- Lawn and Garden Services Contractors
- Carpet and Upholstery Cleaning Contractors
- Roofing, Siding and Sheet Metal Work Contractors
- and more...

*Nationwide excluding Florida

Coverages

- Construction and remediation operations, whether performed by the contractor or subcontractor
- Claims alleging improper supervision of subcontractors
- Third-party bodily injury
- Third party property and environmental damage
- Clean up costs for pollution both on & migrating from the work site
- Protection against claims for clean up costs where mandated by a governmental agency

Maggie Rendeiro

SVP, Environmental Program
maggier@synergy-ins.com
973.995.0513