REVENUE Share 2.0 FAQs

What are the recent changes to the eXp Revenue Share model?

We're excited to announce enhancements to our Revenue Share model that are designed to simplify the process, increase transparency and boost agent earning potential. These features are effective May 9 for the U.S. and Canada.

Elimination of SRS Buffer: We have removed the Sustainable Revenue Share (SRS) buffer to simplify the revenue share calculations and make your earnings more transparent.

FLQA Requirement Reduction: The Front Line Qualifying Agent (FLQA) requirements for levels 2-6 are reduced, increasing eligibility for more agents to earn revenue share.

Introduction of the "Pay Now" Feature (U.S. only): This new feature allows you to instantly cash out your revenue share earnings for a $1 fee or 1% of the payment amount, whichever is greater. (Updated October 1, 2024)

New Fast Start Attraction Bonus for Sponsors: Starting July 1, sponsors will receive a 50% revenue share pool payout (5% of GCI) for an agent's first year at eXp to encourage community growth.

Why was the SRS Buffer eliminated?

The SRS Buffer was identified as a source of confusion based on agent feedback. Removing it aims to clarify the earnings calculation process, ensuring you have a clear understanding of your potential earnings.

How does reducing the FLQA requirements benefit eXp agents??

Lowering the FLQA requirements makes the revenue share model more accessible and inclusive, allowing more agents to qualify for earnings. This change is intended to broaden earning opportunities across our agent community and increase flexibility within our network.
