"My favourite thing about being an FSB member is that network that it brings, the network of people, skills and other experience, even if you don't have that experience, somebody out there does. So all of a sudden you have a team of people that you could contact that weren't there before and that has been the biggest thing for us."

Get online. Follow your local FSB team on social media for the latest news and stories where you live and spread the word about FSB to your network.

Help us to help others. Reviewing us on Trustpilot takes just a few minutes. It helps other small businesses find FSB's events, resources, support and more.

Tell us your story. Make your voice heard as part of a case study or roundtable discussion with local and national government.

Join in with our events. Host one of our events and meet small businesses in your area. Already run a networking group? Get in touch, let's see what we can do together.

Campaign with us. You can get involved with our latest campaigns at a local and national level to help us highlight the issues that matter most to small businesses in different sectors.

Be an FSB representative. Our trusted local representatives meet with the media, external stakeholders, elected representatives and decision makers to deliver the FSB message.

“Knowing that they’re there and having FSB has a safety net for me is just so crucial. FSB can get us all together and be a voice for us, and that’s been superb.”

Ruth McEwan-Lyon,
NI Silver

“The benefits the FSB bring are their resources. That’s an important thing for us and also their voice. We don’t get to speak to people in government or anything like that. But the FSB do. So they represent us.”

Gordon Peters,
Highland Heating Management

FSB Advocacy

Effective policy campaigning and influencing decision makers.

Our national advocacy initiatives start with Big Voice, our online research community, which impacts policy decisions at all levels of government. Through engaging with Big Voice, you give us the insights we need to shape our approach to public policy. Make sure you sign up at fsbbigvoice.co.uk.

Through continuous engagement at the highest levels, we secure meaningful help for members – recent examples include:

- Income support for sole traders and employees unable to work due to the pandemic
- Cash grants for businesses hardest-hit by lockdowns
- Treasury-backed emergency loans for all small firms
- New incentives to employ young people through apprenticeships and the Kickstart initiative
- Business rates breaks for businesses struggling due to COVID-19 and fundamental reform of this tax to take thousands out of the system
- An SME Brexit Support Fund for firms that trade with the EU and dedicated small business chapters in new trade deals
- An Employment Allowance discount on National Insurance (NI) costs for small businesses and an NI holiday for employers who take on veterans
- Exempted small businesses from advertising rules that would have prevented many small businesses from advertising online
- VAT cut for small hospitality, accommodation, food and attraction businesses

Making change happen

What matters to you?

Make your voice heard. At the Federation of Small Businesses, we're proud to be the leading voice of 5.5 million small businesses and the self-employed, but we can't do it without you. Big Voice is your chance as an FSB member to let us know what's important to you – and it only takes 10 minutes. From Government Ministers to the media, your survey answers directly influence our crucial campaigning and lobbying work across the UK, at both a local and national level.

Make a difference

Have your say on key business issues. In the last 12 months, we've asked our members about business confidence and costs, insurance, finance, skills, energy, and disability and health.

Make an impact

Your answers provide valuable data for our policy reports and our quarterly Small Business Index. We highlight what's really happening in the small business community and test potential solutions.

"I truly appreciate the wide breadth of opportunities offered by FSB, the team are really supportive and the Big Voice initiative is so valuable. You feel like you're part of something bigger, a wider community, where your perspective on the needs of small businesses can have a positive influence and impact."

"In my PhD I made a new class of antibiotics. A new class of antibiotics hasn't reached the clinic in over 35 years. People ask me why I do what I do, and it's because I want to save lives, not because I want to make money, if I did, I'd have gone into oncology."
