

From books to the BIG SCREEN!

Book or Movie Title:

A large red rectangular box with a scalloped bottom edge, intended for writing the book or movie title.

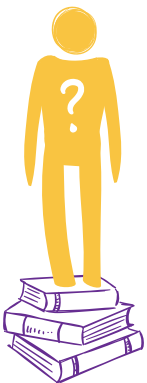

Which character in the book had a big problem to solve? What was the problem?

Eight horizontal lines for writing the answer to the first question.

How was life different for the character after they solved their problem?

Eight horizontal lines for writing the answer to the second question.

Which character is most like you? Which character is the opposite of you? Explain.

Text: Similar character: _____

Text: opposite character: _____

When you watched the movie, did you see that same big problem to solve as in the book?

If you did, was the character's solution the same? If the solution was different, which one did you think was better?

What (or who) was missing from the movie that you liked in the book? Why do you think the movie didn't show that part?

If you had to create a movie poster, which three words do you think would need to be on it?

1 _____

2 _____

3 _____

Which two characters should be featured?

1 _____

2 _____

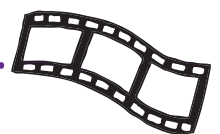

What was fun to read about in the book?

What was fun to see come to life in the movie?

You have to pick one! Which did you like better? Why? Book Movie

From books to the BIG SCREEN!

Book or Movie Title:

Red ribbon banner for writing the title.

What was a central conflict for the main character in this book?
(The character) versus who (or what)?

Five horizontal lines for writing the answer to the conflict question.

At what point in the story was the conflict resolved? What was the outcome?

Five horizontal lines for writing the answer to the resolution question.

Do you think the movie accurately portrayed the book's central conflict?

Five horizontal lines for writing the answer to the accuracy question.

Was the movie's central conflict resolved similarly to the book's? If the resolution was different, which one did you think was better?

Five horizontal lines for writing the answer to the comparison question.

Which character(s) were missing from the movie that you liked in the book? Did it change the story at all?

Which character is most like you? Explain.

Which character is the opposite of you? Explain.

If you had to create a movie poster, which three words do you think would need to be on it? What would be a 10-word catchy preview that could go on the poster to encourage people to see it?

1. _____ 2. _____ 3. _____

What other books or movies might a person like if they like this story? Who might not like this type of story?

You have to pick one! Which did you like better? Why? ___ Book ___ Movie

