

Retail Experience that Matters

A retailer's Office of Finance should be able to easily uncover patterns in sales, inventory, and margins.

With a single source of financial truth, you can make informed decisions on purchasing, marketing, and staffing needs. Optimize supply and staffing processes and meet your omnichannel challenge with automated reporting from Prophix.

Customers

“We’ve more than doubled our store count since we implemented Prophix, but since reports can be set up dynamically that is not a problem. People now have access to the data they need without the ability to view confidential information. None of this was possible using spreadsheets.”
