

Higher Education Experience that Matters

Constant fluctuations in operating costs and revenue streams can make financial planning for higher education institutions a headache.

We've developed a budgeting and planning platform that allows you to spend less time creating and managing financial processes and more time building innovative programs and learning experiences.

Customers

“It has changed our whole budgeting & forecasting environment. We use Banner for our financial system and there is no reporting functionality. It’s so much easier to use Prophix for reporting, and we can pull our reports on a more consistent basis. The difference between then and now is incredible.”
