Age-specific screens allow educators to quickly (i.e., in 10–15 minutes) assess skills that are critical predictors of school success across key early learning domains:

Language Development

Academic Skills/Cognitive Development

Self-help and Social-Emotional Skills

Physical

Developmental Screening

Many programs screen at the beginning of the school year or when a child enters the program. After using Screens III, educators can then administer assessments from the Inventory of Early Development (IED III) for a more in-depth and ongoing assessment of skills mastery.
