

Gram and Cass

Part 1

Teacher Reads Cass is still not happy that her grandmother has come to stay with her and her brother, Greg, while her dad is away. Cass only watches as Greg and Gram plant things in the garden.

When Cass got up from bed, she was still glum. She had not slept well. She went down to see Gram and Greg. They put plants in the spot Dad had set up.

“I can tell it is fun,” Cass said to herself, but she still did not go to help them. She just sat with her chin on her hand.

Part 2

Teacher Reads An accident is about to change how Cass feels. Let’s find out what happens.

Cass saw Greg jump up and yell. She ran to Greg and Gram as they went up the steps to go in.

“Greg cut his hand on some glass,” Gram tells Cass. “He did not see it where he dug.”

When Cass saw Greg’s cut, she was upset and felt sick. “Can I help, Gram?” Cass asks. “That cut looks bad.” Cass saw Gram sit down to fix Greg’s cut.

Part 3

Teacher Reads After Gram cleaned and covered Greg’s cut, she told him a funny story to calm him down. Cass smiled as Gram talked. Then Gram went to wash her hands.

Greg was upset but glad for Gram’s help.

Cass sat with Greg. “I am glad that Gram is a big help. You must rest, Greg,” Cass said. “I will go see Gram.”

Cass went to help Gram with lunch. “I will not be sad and glum, Gram. Greg and I are glad that Dad had you help us.” Cass went to Gram to hug her. “I am glad you are with us.”
