IEP REPORT CARD

Students with disabilities receive a standard report card in addition to the IEP Report Card. On the IEP Report Card, the special education teacher and/or RSP describes the student's progress toward meeting the annual goals.

Below is an example of an IEP Report Card that all parents/guardians of students with disabilities will receive.

3/8/2019 (DRAFT VERSION) Individualized Education Program (IEP) for John Doe (TEST)

Chicago Public Schools
IEP Report Card

Schools must report students with disabilities' progress at the same time as reports are made for nondisabled students. The IEP Report Card must be issued on a quarterly basis, in addition to the standard report card for all students with disabilities.

On the IEP Report Card, the special education teacher should describe the student's progress toward meeting the annual goals. The standard report card gives letter grades for specific academic areas. The general and special education teachers should collaborate to ensure that the letter grade and IEP Report Card correlate. Related service providers are expected to describe on the IEP Report Card the student's progress toward meeting any annual goal in their discipline.
