

CASE STUDY

Finding Ergonomic Comfort and Refined Style with the Stratus Desk

 Client:
Cassandra Bryan Design

 Project Scope:
Furnishing a private office

 Furniture Partner:
Bush Business Furniture (BBF)

 Products Ordered:
- Stratus 72-inch Electric Height Adjustable Standing Desk

The Challenge

Finding the Right Balance of Design and Ergonomics

For over two years, Cassandra searched for the perfect desk to meet both her aesthetic standards and ergonomic needs. Her previous desk was too tall and not adjustable, which led to persistent elbow pain. At the same time, she wanted a high-quality white desk that looked professional, offered flexibility in size, and integrated seamlessly with her all-white office furniture without appearing flimsy or cheap.

// My favorite feature is how easy it is to raise to the standing position. It's quiet, smooth, and with one touch I can go straight to the height I prefer."

The Solution

The Stratus Height Adjustable Standing Desk

Cassandra chose the Stratus Height Adjustable Desk because it delivered on every requirement:

- Design: Smooth white finishes and clean lines elevated the aesthetic of her space, while a modesty panel and spacious underside kept it clutter-free.
- Ergonomics: The desk's automated height adjustment allowed her to move seamlessly between sitting and standing, solving her pain points.
- Versatility: With multiple size options, Cassandra's team was able to order additional desks that fit perfectly into different office layouts.

Execution

From Delivery to Setup

The purchasing process was straightforward, with smooth online ordering and a follow-up call to coordinate delivery. When the desk arrived, Cassandra noted it was well-packaged and easy to assemble with the help of a friend. The desk quickly became a centerpiece of her office, drawing compliments from coworkers and clients alike.

Results

A Healthier, More Collaborative Workplace

Since upgrading to the Stratus desk, Cassandra has noticed less elbow and back pain, thanks to the ability to adjust to proper ergonomic heights and incorporate standing throughout her workday. Standing has also made her workspace feel more open and collaborative, allowing colleagues to easily view her screen without pulling up a chair.

/// “Whether for a home office or professional workspace, this desk is both beautiful and built to last. I’ve already recommended it to others in our office, and we’re all thrilled with it!”
