How Webex can help you return to the office

As you return to the office, the meeting room as you once knew it might be slightly different. Let’s make returning to the office easier with some Webex features you may not have tried yet.

Meeting
With intuitive controls, the meeting experience is all about you:
• Use in-meeting reactions with emojis and bring a little fun to your meeting.
• Virtual, customized, or blurred backgrounds keep everyone focused on you, not what’s behind you.
• Screen share a single document, active application, or even your whole desktop.

Calling
Calling is one of the quickest ways to collaborate with people. Call one-on-one or in a space to get work done:
• Start a call with members of a space instantly by clicking ‘Meet’ beside the space name.
• Create a better meeting experience by filtering out background noise, such as typing on your keyboard or your dog barking.
• Enjoy advanced calling features when you use Webex to call other people within your organization on their work numbers, mobile numbers, or video addresses.

Messaging
Collaboration is more than just a meeting. Stay connected with your teams in-office and/or while working from home:
• Always-on capabilities mean all your messages, files, and whiteboards are saved in your spaces on any device.
• Minimize distractions by customizing your notifications, flagging messages for follow up, and using filters.
• Are you looking for a specific file, person, or message? Secure search makes it easy to find what you need at a moment’s notice.

In-person or remotely, Webex brings everyone together to do exceptional work. Find more great tips and features designed to elevate your experience below.
