Engage More Employees with VolunteerMatch

Discover ready-made virtual and local volunteer opportunities in Spark

Give your people access to a range of volunteer opportunities — directly in Spark — thanks to Benevity's integration with the VolunteerMatch Open Network. They will be able to search, browse, and discover relevant VolunteerMatch opportunities, including local and virtual activities, skills-based activities, and board leadership positions. When you combine this with the existing volunteer possibilities in Benevity's ecosystem, it is easy to see how this can scale the reach of your program and empower even more Goodness!

> Expanding our volunteer choices will help empower companies and their people to easily give time, money, product and skills to almost 2 million vetted global causes.

Bryan de Lottinville
Founder and Executive Chairperson of Benevity

By expanding the volunteer possibilities in Spark, you can harness the passion and skills of your people to do good in ways that resonate with them. So, whether your employees work in a retail store in Sacramento, an office in Houston or remotely in London, they can find local volunteering activities that are suited to their unique skills and interests.

Scale the reach of your program

Your people will have access to a wide range of opportunities through VolunteerMatch (in addition to the existing ones in Benevity's ecosystem) so you can reach more people and drive more engagement.

70%
of volunteers also donate money, with volunteers giving almost double what non-volunteers give.

Reach your people virtually

More than 60% of the opportunities are skills-based and virtual, so your people can take part in volunteer activities anywhere, anytime (and build on their skills while they're at it!).

Deliver the most broad, open-choice program

When you integrate VolunteerMatch into your existing giving, volunteering and Missions initiatives, you can empower people to give their time, money, or skills when and where it makes sense for them.

Find and track volunteer opportunities in real time

Through the Benevity app, your people can discover and sign up for volunteer activities from the palm of their hand — anytime, anywhere — and track their time right after the event.

Sign up directly through Spark

Our integrated single sign-on means your people can access all of their Goodness activities through a single unified platform.
